NAVAL GINS

Navy strength gins need to be at least 57%, as that is the igniting point for alcohol if accidentally spilt on gunpowder stored on sailing ships in the 18th century. If rum was given to the sailors as a ration, the officers were given gin instead...

Citadelle Reserve (FRA) 45.2%	7.60
Bathtub Gin (ENG) 43.3%	5.30

OLD TOM & OAK AGED GINS

Old Tom gins traditionally had sugar added to disguise the unpleasant turpentine & sulphuric acid used to make bathtub gin in the 18th century. More recently, distillers have been adding flavour by ageing gins in oak barrels.

Hayman's Old Tom (ENG) 40%	4.70
Porters Tropical Old Tom (SCO) 40%	5.30
Caspyn Marmalade Old Tom (ENG) 40%	5.80
